Farmers were now more mobile and modern equipment reduced the number of hired men needed to work on the farm and in the mill. The back kitchen, no longer needed, was removed from the house and sold to Tommy Dawson. Later this building was sold again and moved to Tryon where it became the residence of Dorothy Taylor. The carriage house on the Ives' property that had been used to store the wagons used to transport the lumber to and from the steamers docked in Victoria became a garage for George Ives' Model T Ford, then it housed the vehicles of Everett Ives and Charles Roberts. It gave way for show horses and dalmatian dogs raised by Diane Roberts of the fourth generation, and finally housed poultry and kitty cats enjoyed by the fifth generation when they visited the farm. It was demolished in 1990. Molly was a member of the North Tryon Women's Institute, and Molly and Everett were members of the Tryon United Church.

"Edward Dawson (Sandy) Ives (September 24, 1925-August 1, 2009) was a folklorist. His work concentrated on the oral traditions of Maine and the Maritime Provinces of Canada, particularly, as he said, "on local songs and their makers but also on cycles of tales about local heroes." He founded the Maine Folklore Center in 1992 and was its director until his retirement in 1998.
Biography

He grew up in White Plains, New York, served in the Marines, studied literature in college and, beginning in 1955 he taught English at the University of Maine. In 1962 he obtained a Ph.D. in folklore from Indiana University and in 1964 he became a professor of Folklore at the University of Maine.

He performed as a folk singer to supplement his income as a lecturer. This introduced him to the lumber camp singing tradition of Maine, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island and he soon found his calling. In 1957, he organized the Northeast Archives of Folklore and Oral History at the University of Maine. The next year, he founded the Northeast Folklore Society and began editing the monograph series Northeast Folklore. His Folkways Records album, Folk Songs of Maine, was released in 1959.

For more than forty years, he continued to explore the northeast oral tradition, publishing his findings with some regularity. Several of his books focus on individual subjects, whose names found their way into the titles of his books. This personalized approach permitted him to offer a deep exploration of the material and the subject, and himself. A reviewer has commented: "His books on Gorman, Scott, and Doyle … are personal accounts of discovery, as much as studies of regional and occupational singing traditions. Ives's focus on the singers who gave him texts and on his own adventures in the field have made his studies models of contextual and reflexive scholarship."

ORONO - Edward D. "Sandy" Ives passed away peacefully Aug. 1, 2009, at his home. Sandy was born Sept. 4, 1925, in White Plains, N.Y., the son of Warren L. and Millicent (Dawson) Ives. In addition to his loving family, he leaves behind a legacy of songs, stories and cherished memories among the countless people whose lives he touched as teacher, researcher, writer and friend. He was predeceased by his parents; an infant brother, Baby John; and his beloved sister, Ruth. He is survived by his wife of 57 years, "Bobby" Barbara Ann Herrel; and their children and their spouses, Stephen and Joyce Ives of Thornton, N.H., Nathaniel Ives and Julie Russell of Portland and Sarah Ives-Lewis and David Lewis of Point Arena, Calif. Prior to coming to the University of Maine, where he taught for 44 years, Sandy served in the Marine Corps, graduated from Hamilton College with a bachelor's degree in English and history, and received his Master of Arts degree in medieval literature at Columbia University. He received his doctorate in folklore from Indiana University in 1962. Sandy's teaching career was long and varied, beginning as an English instructor at Illinois College from 1950 to 1953, continuing through The City College of New York from 1953 to 1954, and on to the University of Maine. At the University of Maine, Sandy taught first in the English Department and later in the Department of Anthropology. In addition, he was a guest lecturer at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, and the University of Sheffield, England. He retired in 1999. His many students and colleagues will remember him as an inspiring and dedicated educator. Soon after his arrival in Maine, Sandy would later recall, "having discovered...that I'd have to do something to bring my income up to the poverty level - I set up a sideline as a folk-singer...[B]ut while my standard repertoire was adequate for high-school assemblies, I soon saw that something was missing when I played for older and more local audiences. 'Do you know any of the old woods songs?' I'd be asked." And that question sent Sandy off on a quest that would last a lifetime. Creating lasting relationships with the hundreds of people that he interviewed, and honoring their authorship and ownership at every stage, Sandy embodied professional and personal standards that profoundly influenced generations of his students. Sandy's contributions to folklore scholarship were numerous and important. He pioneered the use of oral history methodology in folklore collecting and his book on fieldwork was a landmark. His close study of logging traditions, especially the songs sung and listened to by woodsmen, was an important contribution to the study of occupational folklore, labor history, and the history of Maine and the Maritime Provinces of Canada. Sandy founded the Northeast Archives of Folklore and Oral History, now known as the Maine Folklife Center, in 1971 and served as its director for 22 years. The Archives was built upon his love of collecting folksongs, stories, proverbs and other oral traditions. Throughout the years, it has become a widely respected institution, drawing scholars and collectors from around the world. Sandy's first book, Larry Gorman, The Man Who Made The Songs, was published in 1964. It was reprinted in 1977, and again in 1993. He is also the author of Lawrence Doyle, The Farmer-Poet of Prince Edward Island (1971), Joe Scott, the Woodsman Songmaker (1978), George Magoon and the Downeast Game War (1988 and 1991), Folksongs of New Brunswick (1989), "The Bonny Earl of Murray": The Man, the Murder, the Ballad (1997) - which was published both in Scotland and the United States - and, in 1999, Drive Dull Care Away: Folksongs from Prince Edward Island. He co-authored several other books and had articles published in scholarly journals. He edited 33 volumes of Northeast Folklore, a publication of the Northeast Archives, and in 1959 he recorded Folk Songs of Maine for Folkways Records. His The Tape Recorded Interview: A Manual for Field Workers in Folklore and Oral History (1980 and 1995), and how-to video, "An Oral Historian's Work" (1987) have been used in countless workshops and courses across the country. Sandy was the recipient of many honors and awards, including a Guggenheim Fellowship, a Maine State Award from the Maine Council on the Arts and Humanities, the first Harvey A. Kantor Memorial Award for Outstanding Achievement in Oral History from the New England Association of Oral History, the Marius Barbeau Medal from the Folklore Studies Association of Canada, the Kenneth Goldstein Award for Lifetime Academic Leadership from the American Folklore Society, the Award of Honour for Lifetime Achievement from the Prince Edward Island Museum and Heritage Foundation and a Presidential Public Service Award from the University of Maine. He was a Folk Arts panelist for the National Endowment for the Arts, a Fellow of the American Folklore Society, a member of the Maine Arts Commission and was appointed to the Acadian Cultural Preservation Commission by the Secretary of the Interior. Sandy received honorary degrees from the University of Prince Edward Island and Memorial University of Newfoundland. In 2006 some of his earliest field recordings documenting the song tradition of the lumber camps were selected for inclusion in the National Recording Registry of the Library of Congress. Sandy enjoyed many leisurely walks with Bobby and their beloved dogs, Osprey, Molly and Summer. In his youth, he was a dedicated dry fly-fisherman, and later in life he continued to pursue pickerel and smallmouth bass, "the gamest fish that swims," from the stern of a canoe. Sandy loved playing classical guitar, reading, poetry, singing, collecting wildflowers, hiking, canoeing, bird watching, astronomy and countless other pursuits. The family wishes to thank the following, Dr. Peter Millard, Dr. James Jarvis and the staff of the Center for Family Medicine, Dr. James Iannazzi at Acadia Hospital, and the nurses and aides at New Hope Hospice. A memorial service is planned for the fall. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Sandy's name to the Maine Folklife Center, care of the University of Maine Foundation, Buchanan Alumni House, Two Alumni Place, Orono, ME 04469-5792 or New Hope Hospice, P.O. Box 757, Holden, ME 04429.

Political party Republican

Irving McNeil Ives (January 24, 1896 - February 24, 1962) was an American politician from New York.

[edit] Life

He served overseas in the U.S. Army during World War I, rising to the rank of first lieutenant before he left the army in 1919. He then attended Hamilton College and entered the banking and insurance businesses.

He was a Republican member of the New York State Assembly from 1930 to 1946; being Minority Leader in 1935, Speaker in 1936, and Majority Leader from 1937 to 1946.

Ives was the founding Dean of the School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University. He appointed Maurice F. Neufeld to the faculty, who was later to rise to Professor Emeritus.

He was elected a U.S. Senator from New York in 1946, and re-elected in 1952, serving from 1947 to 1959.

He was a delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1948, 1952 and 1956.

In 1954, he ran for Governor of New York. In one of the closest Governor's races in state history, he was very narrowly defeated by Democrat W. Averell Harriman.

In New York state politics and in national Republican politics, he was known as a moderate member of his party and as a strong supporter of Thomas E. Dewey.

Ives served as the founding dean of the Cornell University School of Industrial and Labor Relations and its primary building is named Ives Hall in his honor.

He died at Chenango Memorial Hospital in Norwich, NY, and was buried at the Greenlawn Cemetery in Bainbridge, NY.

Ives is best remembered for the success of his "Ives-Quinn Act", passed in 1945, this act was one of the earliest examples of racial employment legislation. The Ives-Quinn Act pre-dated the Civil Rights Act by nearly twenty years.

He served overseas in the U.S. Army during World War I, rising to the rank of first lieutenant before he left the army in 1919. He then attended Hamilton College and entered the banking and insurance businesses.

He was a Republican member of the New York State Assembly from 1930 to 1946; being Minority Leader in 1935, Speaker in 1936, and Majority Leader from 1937 to 1946.

Ives was the founding Dean of the School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University. He appointed Maurice F. Neufeld to the faculty, who was later to rise to Professor Emeritus.

He was elected a U.S. Senator from New York in 1946, and re-elected in 1952, serving from 1947 to 1959.

He was a delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1948, 1952 and 1956.

In 1954, he ran for Governor of New York. In one of the closest Governor's races in state history, he was very narrowly defeated by Democrat W. Averell Harriman.

In New York state politics and in national Republican politics, he was known as a moderate member of his party and as a strong supporter of Thomas E. Dewey.

Ives served as the founding dean of the Cornell University School of Industrial and Labor Relations and its primary building is named Ives Hall in his honor.

He died at Chenango Memorial Hospital in Norwich, NY, and was buried at the Greenlawn Cemetery in Bainbridge, NY.

Ives is best remembered for the success of his "Ives-Quinn Act", passed in 1945, this act was one of the earliest examples of racial employment legislation. The Ives-Quinn Act pre-dated the Civil Rights Act by nearly twenty years.

Senator Irving Ives is remembered with his desk on display in the Chenango Museum where it is on display all year long.

His father, Richard Head Welles, was a successful inventor and businessman who made a fortune inventing a carbide bicycle lamp. His mother, Beatrice Ives, was an accomplished pianist and spoken word performer. By the age of six, his parents were separated and Welles moved back to Chicago with Beatrice where she had family. Not long after they arrived in Chicago, however, his beloved mother would die of jaundice when Welles was just nine years old. His father, losing his battle with alcohol, would die when Welles was only 15.

In the wake of Ives' death, Dudley Crafts Watson (1885-1972), a native of Wisconsin and a cousin of Beatrice Ives, became Welles' guardian in Chicago. Watson, a vocal advocate for the arts, was the very first director of the Milwaukee Art Institute-which was renamed from the Milwaukee Art Society shortly after Watson's arrival, and is known today as the Milwaukee Art Museum.

Dudley Crafts Watson, n.d. Milwaukee Art Museum, Institutional Archive.

During Watson's tenure (1913-1924), the Institute played host to a variety of cultural events from lectures, plays and spoken word performances, to symphonies and more. To raise money to care for her family, Ives was a frequent performer at the Milwaukee Art Institute, both to accompany Watson and his widely popular lectures and to perform interpretive concerts of her own. Ives garnered positive reviews and praise for her performances at the Institute and beyond. Unfortunately, though, by early 1924, the beautiful and talented Ms. Beatrice Ives had passed.

We still wonder: How did such exposure to the arts, and particularly the art of performance, influence the young Orson Welles? Did he attend lectures where his mother played for Watson or view her performances? Did he attend Mr. Watson's lectures? What was the relationship between Welles and Watson?

Whatever the case may be, the rebellious young Welles (who reportedly at the age of 10 ran away from Watson's home with Watson's third daughter, Marjorie, also 10, and was found a week later, singing and dancing for money on a Milwaukee street corner) was set on his artistic path early on, becoming a tour de force in the art of twentieth-century filmmaking.

Needless to say, our curiosity is piqued. If you can share anything about Beatrice Ives or the young Mr. Watson, we would be pleased to hear from you. We look forward to your thoughts.

Frank Exor Ives, "Ex" as he was known, joined his Savior and beloved wife, Katheryn, on Tuesday, March 13, 2012. He passed away peacefully at his home in St. Anthony.

Ex was the second twin and little brother to his sister, Helen, born to George and Mary Ives in St. Anthony on April 7, 1915.

He attended school in St. Anthony and graduated from South Fremont. Ex went on to college at Idaho State University in Pocatello and graduated from the University of Montana in Missoula with a degree in forestry.

He worked as a park ranger in Yellowstone National Park until World War II interrupted his career.

Ex served in the Army Air Force from March 1942 until November 1945. He served in several different fields, but mainly as an aerial gunnery instructor.

Katheryn Ritzhaupt and Ex married Nov. 1, 1942, at the home of her parents in St. Anthony. They had just celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary a week before Katheryn passed away.

They had three children, Carole Lynn Ives (Rick Paquette) of Vashon, Wash., Stephen Exor (Cyndi) Ives of Arlington, Texas, and Mary Theresa "Terri" (Jim) Knox of St. Anthony; seven grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

After leaving the Army Air Force, Katheryn and Ex returned home and farmed 100 acres south of St. Anthony provided by Arthur Ritzhaupt until Arthur passed away, and they assumed an additional 80 acres on the original Ritzhaupt homestead. He was active in the two irrigation canal companies that provided water to the farm land. Ex also assisted his brother, William, at Ives Sporting Goods during the winter months repairing small engines.

Ex was a quiet man, well-known for his patience and willingness to lend a hand to anyone in need. He was a true "Gentleman." He was a faithful, lifelong member of Mary Immaculate Catholic Church. His church and faith brought strength and comfort to him.

A funeral mass will be held at 10 a.m. Friday, July 20, at Mary Immaculate Church in St. Anthony. The family will receive visitors an hour prior to the service in the reception hall of the church. Family and

"Joyce (Ives) Williams Obituary

Obituary published on Legacy.com by Heckart Funeral Home - Sedalia on Dec. 12, 2023.

Joyce JoAnn (Ives) Williams, 87, of Sedalia, residing at Sylvia G. Thompson Residence, departed for her final destination, Heaven, in the early morning hours of December 10, 2023. Joyce arrived on this Earth during a blizzard, on January 14, 1936 in Laurens, Iowa, the youngest of 11 children born to Milo D. and Mayme S. (Thorson) Ives.

The family moved to a farm one mile south of Bahner, Missouri in 1941, when she was 5 years old. As the youngest, she was both doted on and picked on by all her older siblings and even some of their spouses. She would tell her stories about being picked on, but she was loved by all of them - and deep friendships formed as they all grew into adulthood, married and had children, and beyond the years of those children growing into adults and having families of their own.

Along with her two next-in-line brothers, Leonard and Burton, Joyce went to grade school at Pacific School in a one room schoolhouse one mile west of their house. Joyce attended and graduated from Cole Camp High School in 1953. After graduation, she moved to the "big city" of Sedalia and got her first job at a soda fountain counter inside Katz Drug Store in downtown Sedalia. She married Carl D. Freeman in 1956. Their marriage produced three children, all girls, Bambi Dee, Melody Kay, and Camie Lea. For a few years of their marriage, they lived near the Kansas City area. After their divorce in 1963, she returned to Sedalia to live and worked for a time at Sedalia Auto Parts Store in downtown Sedalia. A second marriage to James D. Lees of Sedalia in 1968 produced a son, James Scott. Joyce worked at Interstate Studios for many years and raised her 4 children mostly as a single parent. She pursued a better life for her and her children, by enrolling at State Fair Community College to earn her Secretarial Certificate. One proud moment for her was when she graduated in 1975, the same year that her oldest daughter Bambi graduated high school. This certificate gave her the opportunity to get a job as a secretary at the Missouri Division of Employment where she worked until her retirement at age 62.

In her mid-50's, Joyce became reacquainted with Johnny Mac Williams. Our families had previously known each other back in the 1960's when their oldest girls were friends. He eventually became the Love of her Life and they were married on June 27, 1994 at The Little Brown Church in the Vale in Nashua, Iowa. Third times the charm--they had 13 wonderful years together of traveling around the world, taking road trips, going to flea markets all around the Midwest, and getting together to play cards and board games with friends and family. They kept in touch for many years with friends made during their extensive travels. After John's death in 2007, Joyce continued her travels with her daughter Melody. Over the years, her travels took her to all 50 states in the United Sates and many other countries on six continents, and included a trip to China and mission trips to Brazil and El Salvador.

Faith and church were an important aspect of Joyce's life. She was a long-time member of Immanuel United Church of Christ, at the corner of 4th & Vermont ("the church with the red door"), for more than 50 years, where she held many volunteer roles over the years. She was a Sunday School teacher, she served on various boards and committees, served as Council President, and she sang in the choir. Her last role there was that of lining up the liturgist and candle lighters for each Sunday, and she did it the old-fashioned way…with phone calls. She was also known for being an "inviter"--inviting everyone she met to come join her at her church. Joyce was also a member of the Church Women United for many, many years, and served as its President for a time. She also volunteered at the Open Door Service Center.

When her children were in Grade School, Joyce was a member of the PTA and PWP (Parents Without Partners). As the kids got older and the PWP group became smaller, the core group stayed in contact with each other and she called them "the Flaming Embers." Those friendships were very dear to her. John and she continued hosting gatherings at their home on occasion to keep the bunch together. Joyce and John would also host neighborhood gatherings each year for hot cocoa and cookies around the holidays. Joyce was an active and lively member of the Red Hat Society and thoroughly enjoyed wearing the hats, dressing up, the companionship of the ladies, and the eating, of course. The Red Hatters knew how to have a good time and enjoy a good meal. And it was this special companionship along with her family, that helped sustain her after the loss of her husband, John, in 2007. She walked in the parades and had all the memorabilia, and countless red hats. She was also a member of the Pettis County Historical Society and would volunteer her time to work at the Historical Society Museum and out at the Bothwell Lodge.

Joyce was an avid collector of many things. She collected teapots, tea sets, small pitchers, carousel horses, John Wayne memorabilia, angels, rabbits, birds, bells, State thimbles and spoons, pretty dishes, red hat memorabilia, old calendars that she would leave up because she liked the pictures, and all things pink (including a pink toilet seat once "won" at a Williams family elephant gift exchange). Her house was filled with her treasures from around the world, from the flea markets, from gifts given by others because everyone knew she collected that particular thing. She liked to say "I collect things and the things collect dust." Joyce also liked to collect quotes and sayings and interesting articles that she read, magazines and cut out newspaper articles, oh, and lists, lots of lists.

If you asked her "how are you doing?" her common response was "doing the best I can" and she'd give you a smile. Joyce's last years of living, and dying, with Alzheimer's were not what she expected to be doing in her last years on this earth, she had to live for the "moments" of understanding and some assurance from the friendly, maybe familiar, maybe not familiar, faces around her. But she did the best she could…moment by moment…all throughout her life.

She is survived by her brother Burton Ives and his wife Patricia of Sedalia, Missouri and sister-in-law Norene Brauer Ives of Cole Camp, MO. Norene and Joyce graduated high school together and were life-long friends. She is also survived by her daughters Bambi D Carnicle, Lincoln, NE; Melody K Freeman, Columbia, MO; Camie Freeman Pugsley and her husband Clayton, Tigard, OR; and her son J Scott Lees, Sedalia, MO. Her surviving step-children are: Becky & Brad Schmidt of Jefferson City, MO: Johnny and Pam Williams of Rushville, MO; Paul & Cyndi Williams of Smithton, MO; and Janie & Max Hedglin of Jefferson City, MO. She is also survived by her 3 grandchildren: Brad A Carnicle, Tara L Carnicle, and Nicholas Albro; 8 great grandchildren: Alexis, Brianna, Catina, Victor, Dominque, Daviana, Jaiana, and Aiden; and one great-great granddaughter, Hope, and another soon to be born on January 10th, all of Lincoln, NE.

With the many others who became family through her children's step families and her marriage to John, Joyce was fondly called "Grandma Joyce" by 20 bonus grandchildren, 40 bonus great grandchildren, and 5 bonus great-great grandchildren. Joyce was also "Aunt Joyce" to a multitude of loving nieces and nephews, great-nieces and nephews and great-great nieces and nephews. She loved to read story books to any child (or adult) willing to sit and listen, and often had a bottle of bubbles to entertain herself and visiting children.

She was preceded in death by her husband, John Williams, her parents Milo and Mayme Ives, her three sisters Marjorie (Wayne) Lund, June Ives (Elmo) Cox, and Dorothy (Bill) Green, an infant sister Marilyn Ives, and five brothers, Alan (Gladys) Ives, Jack Ives, Roger (Bea) Ives, Thomas (Dorothy Lorraine) Ives, and Leonard Ives, her step-daughter Raina Williams (Larry) Milks, and her step-great granddaughter Brooklynn Brielle Enos.

A memorial service will be held at 11:00 am on Friday, December 29, 2023 at Heckert Funeral Home, Sedalia, MO with Pastor Brad Schmidt officiating. The family will receive visitors beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Inurnment will be at a later date at the Bethlehem Baptist Church Cemetery. Memorial contributions are suggested to Alzheimer's Association, Open Door Service Center in Sedalia or Immanual United Church of Christ in Sedalia.

"On October 17th, 2023, John Ives passed away peacefully in his sleep at the age of 90. John was born March 26,1933 in Pocahontas County Iowa (near Rolfe). His family relocated to farm in Floyd, Iowa where John lived until he attended college at Marquette University in 1952. After his first year of college, John was drafted by the Army during the Korean War. He completed his basic training at Fort Riley (Kansas) and then was part of the 127th infantry division near Salzburg, Austria. He was grateful for those years that gave him the opportunity to serve his country and see new places, especially Austria. He returned to college at Iowa State University where he completed his degree in Civil Engineering and immediately went to work for the Iowa Department of Transportation based in Davenport, Iowa.

During his time in Davenport, he met the love of his life, Madeline DeFayette, and they were married in 1960. They moved to Cedar Rapids/Marion Iowa where he worked for Martin Marietta and had five children. In the following years, the family had several moves between Iowa and Indiana and ultimately settled in Covington, Indiana where the family called home for the last 48 years. John worked for Interstate Sand and Gravel and later purchased Del Storm Products, a window and awning fabricator, from which he retired in 2022 at the age of 89.

He is preceded in death by his infant daughter, Mary Margaret, Madeline, his wife of 45 years, and brothers Jim & Orville. He is survived by his five children, Julie Lemke, Gina (Rick) Plapp, Daniel Ives, David (Janet) Ives, Becky Ives, grandchildren Caroline (Charlie) Mattingly, Connor Lemke, Olivia (Kip) Kyle, Audrey Plapp, Evan Plapp, and three great-grandchildren, Cora Olker, Anna Mattingly, and Madeline Mattingly. He will also be missed by his brothers Gerald, Hillary, Gail, and Dennis Ives; sister, Vera Kasel, brother and sister-in-law, Bob & Helen DeFayette, and multitudes of nieces and nephews who loved Uncle John.

John and Madeline shared their love of Christ as devout Catholics which included saying the rosary on every leg of family trips. Friendly, outgoing, and generous, John loved to help others and did so in many ways, big and small. Graduating as the shortest kid in his high school class and being one of eight children, he developed a "toughness" that he carried throughout his life. A community leader, he was involved at church serving on parish councils and as a lector. He was active in The Lions Club and several professional organizations. He was VFW Post Commander and President of Ducks Unlimited. He loved the game of golf and was an avid outdoorsman who enjoyed hunting, fishing, and tromping through marshes with family and friends. John, the storyteller, often recounted adventures of farm life and always enjoyed conversing with friends and family and never met a stranger.

Calling will be Friday October 27th, 2023, at Shelby Funeral Home, 622 Third St, Covington, IN with rosary at 4:45 p.m. and continue with visitation from 5:00 pm to 8:00 pm EST. The funeral mass will be at St. Joseph Catholic Church, 308 Pearl St, Covington, IN at 11:00 am, EST. Burial will follow in Mount Hope Cemetery, 123 South Stringtown Road, Covington. "

"James Russell Ives and his wife compiled much of our Ives geneology as we know it today. They credited J. Russell's cousin, Georgiana Swanson, for getting them started on this hobby which they pursued for some 20 years. They compiled volumes of work, but appear to have given their work to various family branches along the way. A copy of one of their works entitled "The Lives and Family of Robert Burton Ives and Anna Maude James" by J. Russell Ives, Volume III, dated June 1995 is now in the possession of Peggy Ives (6/16/56). For the most part, this is a collection of his studies into the historical times that our ancestors lived in, evidently pursued to better understand their hardships, their lives, the times in which they lived. It also contains the following story of his family, written by J. Russell himself:

Born in 1910, I grew up knowing that there could be no greater glory on earth than farming one's own land. Why else did most of my relatives (even Grandpa James, for a time) want to be farmers? Uncles Leon and Morris Ives had come to the Rolfe Community in the 1880's for this reason, and this must have been why Milo (my grandfather) bought the quarter section near them in 1888, even though he was expected to remain on the farm in Johnson County where their father had settled in 1862. Or, in the speculative spirit of the times, $10.00 an acre may have seemed just too good to pass up.

While there were family visits between Oxford and Rolfe, nothing much happened to Grandpa's property for the next several years. Probably the Panic of 1893 discouraged further investment until 1901 when the "field across the road" (39 acres because of a closed road that had run along the south side of it) was purchased from Uncle Morris for $32.00 an acre. But by then Grandpa was busy with his own farming operations, raising his family, and caring for his parents. In 1904 he lost his mother (Abigail) and my Uncle Orlo was born. A year or so later a new house was built with a downstairs room for his father (Warren).

Family tradition has it that Uncle Morris broke the sod and planted the first crop (flax) for Grandpa; he and his boys probably worked the high ground until 1913. With population growing and land prices rising, by 1910 (the year I was born), interest in bringing the wet lands into production was mounting. Finally straightening and dredging the natural waterways (creeks) in the county became a public project, and drainage districts were laid out. Grandpa's slough land was in District No. 77. Meanwhile, the natural sink holes of the area were found to be useful. One of these was located in the southwest corner of the property. Some old records indicate that exploratory drainage surveys were made by W.P. Wheeler in 1910-1912, and the huge task of tiling the entire place was begun.

.....all of Grandpa's land was fertile, tillable soil. But being gently rolling there were several low spots that until drained remained too wet for field work much of the time. .....approximately three miles of tiling that was put under ground during the ten years up to 1920. Some of the tile drained to the north, running to other lines emptying into Crooked Creek. But most of the farm's drainage went to the sink located in the southeast corner of the quarter.

We -- my dad (29), my mother (25), and I (2 1/2) -- moved to Rolfe in the spring of 1913 by train, of course. Dad rode in a freight car with some livestock, farm machinery, and some household goods. Mom and I came a little later and had a sleeper part of the way. We lived for about a year on a nearby farm until the new house was built on Grandpa's land. Dad did not do much actual farming that year, as he was very busy establishing a new farm home "where none had stood before." For two more years (1914-1915) this was an exciting time and place for my parents. With the good railroad connections Grandpa came up several times from Oxford, and Mom's brothers (Ben, mostly) hired on to the "Rolfe Project."

.....the first building to go up on Grandpa's vacant land was the corn crib, built by Ben Peterson in anticipation of the 1913 corn crop -- probably no more than a few hundred bushels that first year. Next was the 48' x 50' barn ..... It was built by Charles Siefert; it had a large haymow, stalls for eight head of horses, and ample room for the livestock Dad planned to raise. Nearby John Bush dug a 60' well to which was added a pump, pump-jack, a small gasoline engine, and of course a water tank. The windmill was put up later (1918, I think) by A.H.Tubbs, who also worked on the sink.

Livestock also required fencing; not all at once, but in due course the entire place was fenced with "hog-tight" woven wire, topped with two or three strands of barbed wire. Spaced one rod apart this required about 1,600 posts and post holes -- all dug by hand, requiring skill and a considerable amount of energy.

Starting with the basement -- dug after the frost was out of the ground -- the four bedroom house ..... was begun in March 1914. Besides his "straw boss" responsibilities, Dad mixed the concrete and poured the basement floors, walls, and foundation for the house. He bought his own cement mixers. Carpenters Jerry Shepherdson and Lee Jordan came in April, and construction proceeded rapidly. Fitted with such conveniences as a hot air furnace, water system with a full bathroom, and electric light plant, and laundry facilities in the basement, it was truly a modern home. Several other new and improved houses were being built in the community at this time. A priority project for this new "home on the prairie" was the evergreen windbreak that was set out on the north and west sides of the buildings.....Another necessity was the house well dug by John Bush in 1914. A cement sidewalk connected it to the back porch -- a small but major detail, considering Iowa's muddy yards during much of the year. From April to October rubber boots frequently were standard outdoor footware. I even had a pair, size one, I suppose. A small room next to the back porch was used for removing outdoor wearing apparel. It was called the "boot room", of course.

To finance the developing of his land, Grandpa opened an account in Rolfe's First National Bank that Dad could draw on to pay the bills. From the 1913-15 records that have survived, his deposits totalled $7,050 and the expenditures are estimated to have been about as follows:

Corncrib, barn, well, etc.....$2,600.00
Plantings, drainage, fencing....$ 600.00

House, furnace,plumbing,etc...$3,500.00
Other, not recorded.....$ 350.00
Total $7,050.00

This minimum figure compared to the $2,850 paid for the raw land bears out Ross' observation that, "The cost of working a farm even in the most elementary manner...exceeded several times the cost of the land."
